England's Loss to Date, 57,000; Germans Lose 90,000 Along Yser

LONDON, Nov. 18 .- [United Press.] -- England was staggered to-day an announcement from Premier Asquith stating that the British castee in the war to date are 57,000 killed, wounded and missing.

These losses are offset by the reports of the terrible toll paid by the sans in battles of the last fortnight.

Entire regiments attempting to storm the British positions in massed formation have been wiped out, say reports from the front. The casualties at the enemy are placed as high as 90,000 in some reports. It is stated that five German generals were killed.

The German force at the beginning of the latest drive toward the coast numbered 500,000. The statement of the Premier placing the casualties at approximately

$7,000 was written in reply to an inquiry by Edward T. John, a member of the House of Commons from Denbighahira. Having advanced from Nieuport to Lombaertsyde along the coast, the es continue to press their offensive in this section. News despatches

LONDON, Nov. 18 .- [Associated Press.]-A supplementary estimate provide for another million men required by the British Government ing the year ending March 31 was introduced in the House of Commens to-day.

This will bring the total army, not including the Territorials, to 2.196,400 officers and men.

The Government to-day issued the details of a plan to call upon Parliament to sanction an additional credit for $125,000,000 for war expenses up to the end of next March.

MILES OF NEW GRAVES MARK WAR'S BLIGHT IN BELGIUM

People Homeless, Without Tools to Work, or Seed to Sow, Affrighted, Dumb, Helpless, American Relief Committee Finds.

LONDON, Nov. 18 (Associated Press) .- Jarvis E. Bell of New York, who, on behalf of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, assisted in the distribution of the first cargo of relief supplies sent to the Belgians, gives the following description of conditions in the stricken country. Mr. Bell said:

"Nothing that has been written could exaggerate the misery of Belgium. We drove for miles through graveyards. Stakes, on some of which were soldiers' battered coats and helmets, were the tombstones-deserted cemeteries. As we entered the villages women and children sought refuge in the ruins of roofless homes, terrified lest we were some fresh visitation of war. Their faces were drawn and lined, and if you could only see the gruesome surroundings in which they are struggling for existence you would not wonder that they fail to smile.

"The Belgian peasant has in many districts no home in which to sleep, no seed to sow, no implements with which to work, no transport to reach a market and, finally, no heart to struggle against the impossible. It is unbelievable that war ever produced such a complete and tragic paralysis as we saw in many parts of Belgium. It cannot be attributed to lack of courage on the part of the civilian population or to the inhumanity of the conqueror. It is simply war up to date; civilised, Christian war.

"There was no need for the news papers to spread the report of our arrival. In one hour all Brussels knew and rejoiced. Many people had food into Belgium and that if we did we would not get by the wall of soldiers surrounding Brussels.

"We drove back to Holland by way of Louvain, Aerschot and Thourout to Breds, on the Dutch frontier. We found several villages in the Lim-burg district that had been without salt for a month. At almost every bridge we met men with boxes soliciting relief from travellers from more fortunate districts. This looks like begging, but there are some condi-tions justifying anything.
